Marina in 'state of limbo,' basin plans on schedule

By EDGAR PEREZ

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission has temporarily solved its problems at Bayou Cadet by cancelling a marina operations contract, assigning a subcommittee to look into feasibility of a $400,000 ice house at the harbor, and reaching a compromise with environmentalists on construction of a mooring basin.

The Commission agreed at a regular meeting Thursday to pay Niel Nielson $2,288 for improvements he made to a county-owned building at the marina during the brief period he held a lease to operate the facility.

His contract is cancelled as of June 21, if the board's actions are ratified at Monday's Board of Supervisors meeting.

Board President A. A. (Dolph) Kellar and Supervisors Sam Perniciaro and Bert Corregge attended the Thursday Commission meeting and gave tacit approval to the actions taken on the marina situation.

"Right now we are in a state of limbo on Bayou Cadet," commented Commissioner Dave McDonald who serves on the Commission's Bayou Cadet subcommittee.

The marina, for the time being, is under the supervision of two commission employees who are on duty at the docks from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. seven days a week.

The proposal to construct a $400,000 "Turbo Ice Plant" at Bayou Cadet came from Buck Walter of Long Beach.

Walter said he has "up to $1 million in financial backing" if details of the proposal can be worked out between his attorney and a special Commission committee appointed to pursue the matter further.

Charles Hill of Burke and Associates, consulting engineers to the Board of Supervisors, told the Commission a compromise plan drawn by his firm on construction of a proposed mooring basin at Bayou Cadet has met with approval from all environmentalist agencies concerned as well as the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

"This is the closest we've ever been to seeing it sail," said Wilson Wehre, commission executive director, on the apparent acceptance of basin plans.

McDonald termed the ecological compromise a "major accomplishment."

Hill, who met with Corps officials in Mobile last week, said the Corps will be proceeding on its original timetable in development of the basin.

Plan changes proposed by the Commission were originally thought to be responsible for delays which might have seriously impaired the development.

Hill noted the Corps will submit a final plan to Washington in August, and could be dredging in the Bayou as early as November.

Also Thursday, the Commission approved a fixed base operator's contract with TransAm International at Stennis Airport.

The contract calls for a monthly rent of $750 or a flat rate percentage of gasoline and jet aviation fuel, whichever is greater.

The company will also pay the county one percent of adjusted gross revenue on a yearly basis.

COME RAIN OR SHINE - Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett was determined to hold a ribbon cutting ceremony Friday for the opening of Main Street. Getting soaked were from left, Lee Ford of Williams Paving; Fred Wagner, councilman; Larry Bennett, mayor; Douglas Williams, chief of police; and Wilmer Seymour, councilman. Bennett had these comments on the weather: "If the residents of Main Street could plow through the mud and water for months, the two commissioners and I can get a little wet." The photographer thanks Charles Black, superintendent of the street department, for holding umbrella over the camera. Bennett said there is some cleanup and sidewalk work yet to be done on Main Street before the job is accepted by the city, an official grand opening will come at a later date. Catahoula Road County dump is 'sanitary fill'

By J. RANDY PONDER

Take a ride out to the garbage dump on Catahoula Road, you probably won't recognize the place.

All of the trash has been cleared off and placed into big trenches, which constitute Hancock County's only State Board of Health approved land fill operation.

The dumping area is used by the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland and Hancock County, as well as the citizens of those political subdivisions.

Sam Perniciaro, Beat Four Supervisor, has been in charge of getting this program underway in the county with help from State Board of Health officials Bill Lee and Johnny Biggert and Hancock Sanitation Officer Louis Fernandez.

Basically, the land fill works this way - a trench is dug, the daily accumulation of trash and garbage is flattened by a dozer and covered with several inches of soil. This is repeated each day until the trench is filled, then a new trench is dug.

It is estimated to take three to four months to fill a trench, each trench being 250 feet long by 60 feet wide by 12 feet deep.

According to Perniciaro, the main advantages to this system are no burning of trash, no scavengers and a degree of control on the fly and mosquito population.

And it will look and smell much nicer," Perniciaro added.

dustrial revenue bond to the Aetna Insurance Company Friday at the county courthouse to finance machinery and equipment for a new Alcan Cable Company plant in Bay St. Louis.

Issuance of the bond marks finalization of financing for Alcan by the County which entered the transaction when the City of Bay St. Louis was unable to issue bonds in the necessary amounts due to other pressing debts.

The bonds were signed by A.A.

(Dolph) Kellar, board president, and John Rutherford, board clerk. Don Schurman, vice president of Alcan Aluminum Company of Cleveland, Ohio, signed for the company.

"We're proud to locate the plant here in Bay St. Louis," said Schurman, adding "Bay St. Louis should be proud, too."

"Opening of the plant on Railroad Avenue should initially provide approximately 40 to 50 jobs," stated Milo Oakland, Alcan vice president.

"That number might increase to 65 or 70 within the next three to five years," he added.

"The county issues the bond to Aetna, and the proceeds go towards purchasing machinery and equipment for Alcan," explained Don Brant, an attorney from Millbank, Tweed, Hadley and McCloy, a New York law firm representing Alcan.

"Hancock County then leases the machinery and equipment to Alcan, with the lease payments going to pay off the bond," he continued.

"Because a governmental authority is issuing the bond, the interest is free of federal income tax. As a result the interest rate is considerably lower and the cost of financing the machinery and equipment is cheaper than any other method," the attorney explained.

"Mississippi, as well as other Southern states, are the forerunners in this form of leasing," he continued.

"Other states in the country are now using this type of leasing, because it is very enticing to business and industry," Brant said.

Jack Robinson, Alcan president, said the plant should be operational by the end of the year.

Alcan produces electrical cable to be used by companies such as Mississippi Power for use in underground connections of houses to supply sources.

A representative of Mississippi Power testified earlier this year that sufficient resources are available to Alcan now, and as far as can be determined, for the next 30 years.

Traffic fatality spurs holiday law crackdown

The Waveland Police Department reported its second traffic fatality of the year Friday and promised its two radar-equipped squad cars will be in operation around the clock during the Fourth of July holiday weekend.

"We are going to be enforcing our traffic laws in an effort to hold down injuries during the holidays," said Chief Donald Dorn of the Waveland Police.

Dorn said an 18-year-old Springfield, Mo., youth died Thursday night in Gulfport Memorial Hospital of injuries sustained in a June 16, one-car accident at Nicholson Avenue and Beach Boulevard.

Fatally injured was Wayne Robert Pedigo of 2526 Grand St., Lot No. 63, according to Inspector Robert Tarravouille of the Waveland Police.

NASA, PanAm negotiating $32 million contract

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is negotiating a contract with Pan American World Airways to supply support services for NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County.

Pan Am's Aerospace Services Division in Cocoa Beach, Fla., will replace Global Associates which has held the NASA support services contract since 1971.

Global currently employs some 471 people at NSTL.

Contractor's estimated cost for the first three years of this cost-plus-award-fee contract is $32 million.

Starting date for the contract is Oct. 12, 1978, and there are two one-year unpriced options.

Services covered by the contract fall into five broad categories: operation and maintenance of the NSTL real and installed property; institutional services; supply and equipment management; construction services; and installation services.

Other bids were submitted by: Global Associates of Oakland, Calif., present holder of the contract; Boeing Services, International, Inc., Cocoa Beach; Day and Zimmermann, Inc., of Philadelphia; Holmes and Narver, Inc., of Orange, Calif.; and Mason-Regard, Lexington, Ky.

All work will be performed at NSTL. Pan Am stated in its winning proposal to NASA that its intention will be to obtain about 90 percent of the staffing requirements from the incumbent work force.

Pan Am also committed itself to provide at least the same pay for the same or similar work.

Bay youth traces father's footsteps into State Patrol

By RICH ADAMS

The son of a Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol District 8 inspector who was killed in the line of duty almost 10 years ago is one of 60 patrol recruits undergoing training at the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy in Rankin County.

David J. Kenny of Bay St. Louis is the son of the late William P. Kenny, who was killed in the line of duty on December 23, 1967, in an automobile accident as he was returning home from an investigation in Biloxi.

David attended St. Stanislaus College in Bay St. Louis and has just completed four years at the University of Southern Mississippi at Hattiesburg studying law enforcement.

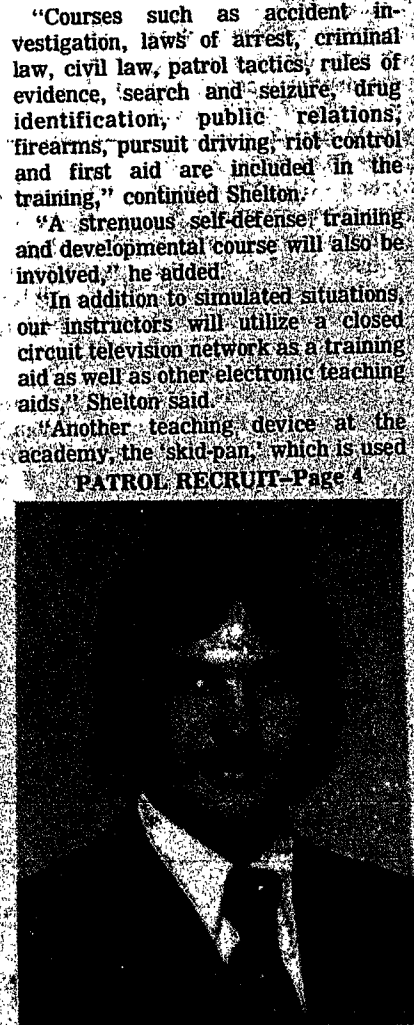

Kenny was president of his pledge class at Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity while attending the university. He was later house manager and president of the fraternity, and vice president of the university's judiciary board.

He was married to the former Cindy Odom of Hattiesburg, June 3, at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis.

"Ever since he was a little boy, he's always wanted to be a policeman," said Kenny's brother Mike.

Thomas Shelton, academy administrator, said the current class is the largest to be enrolled at the academy since 1964.

"The 60 recruits were selected from 300 statewide applicants, based on a written examination, background investigation and a physical examination," Shelton stated.

A nice job - but!

The new blacktopping on Dunbar Avenue from Beach Boulevard to Carroll Avenue is very much appreciated by everyone in our County.

Hancock County Supervisor Oscar Peterson of Beat Three should be thanked for his efforts, along with the City of Bay St. Louis, for doing such a fine job.

Dunbar Avenue is an important artery serving Hancock General Hospital, Board of Health and North Bay Elementary School, as well as most residents of the Cedar Point area.

It sure is a shame the rest of Dunbar Avenue wasn't blacktopped at the same time.

Beat Five Supervisor James Travirca, whose district includes the rest of Dunbar, when contacted Thursday said, "I have never been officially contacted by the administration of Bay St. Louis on the resurfacing of Dunbar in my district."

Travirca also noted projects like resurfacing streets have to be planned in order to come up with funds. Right now, Travirca said, he does not have any extra monies but he would be willing to work in cooperation with the Bay Council if he were officially contacted by them.

With the 500 block of Main Street ready for traffic, it sure would be nice to have that little stretch of Dunbar resurfaced.

One thing is for sure, someone goofed, and we feel it was the Bay St. Louis City administration.

An occasion for rejoicing

By JOE PILET
DAR Citizenship Chm.

The man was short and stout and had a ruddy complexion. He was one of the signers of an historic document, The Declaration of Independence, and he had some definite ideas about how the anniversary date of the birth of this nation should be celebrated.

Letters

to the editor

There first

Dear Sirs:

I'm not sure how the story of the June 28th accident on US-90 was arrived at, but a lot of facts are missing.

Yes, the accident did happen as reported, but the following should be changed.

Deputy Cuevas was not the first on the scene. A local CB'er was the first. He was in the laundry when it happened, and rendered immediate assistance.

The second person on the scene was myself. I called the Diamondhead Fire Department via F.M. fire radio, had them call the Bay Fire Department and the Bay Police Department.

After I arrived, Deputy Cuevas and Ron Peterson arrived. Then Bay Police Department, and then Mr. Ladner of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol, then Bay Fire Department and then 20 minutes or so later Mobile Medic out of Gulfport.

I don't know how that local CB'er and all of the firemen felt, but I do not believe that our names or our fire department names should have been left out.

I, myself, and one other person were representing Diamondhead Paid and Volunteer Fire Department, and a number of others were from the Bay Fire Department as a matter of fact, of the fireman to respond whom I knew, about 1/2 of them were off duty.

The way I look at it, is that if it were not for the CB'er and the firemen at the scene, the victims would have still been in the car when Mobile Medic arrived. I do not see how anyone could put up with it.

I, myself, wish that something could be done to correct this error.

Signed,
Walter L. (Buddy) Stone III
Volunteer,
Diamondhead Fire Department

(Editor's Note: News stories of this type routinely report arrival of the first official on the scene. In most cases, bystanders and passersby are on the scene of an accident before emergency officials, but are named in the news only in cases of extraordinary heroism.)

John Adams said: "I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as a great anniversary festival. It ought to be commemorated as a day of deliverance, by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty."

"It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations, from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forward forever more," Adams felt.

For 202 years our nation has so celebrated Independence Day. We heartily agree with President Adams, Independence Day should be a day for "rejoicing."

Ours is a resort community, a favorite gathering place for those who wish to mark the occasion with building of bonfires, shooting of fire works, and enjoying boating, skiing and swimming.

We would like to think there will be no accidents, no broken bones or damaged automobiles, no sufferers of severe sunburn, no drownings, and definitely no fatalities.

Unfortunately, such thinking simply isn't realistic.

But as "host county" there are things we can do to add to the pleasure of our guests:

We can observe the traffic laws; we can show an example of courtesy and patience and consideration; we can make use of Litter Barrels; we can be of good cheer.

If the occasion presents itself, we can lend a helping hand. Politeness is contagious. Let's expose everyone to Hancock County Hospitality!

The celebration of Independence Day - "from this time forward forever more," if Adams wishes are to be carried out - should keep us mindful that "Independence is a treasure to be carefully guarded. We are blessed with the heritage of a free nation and it's our responsibility to keep it free.

Celebrate. Rejoice. We've cause for festivity for ours is the best nation on earth.

Principals in the TransAm corporation, yet to be chartered in Mississippi, are Mel Anderson and Ed Conn.

Anderson is now acting as principal agent for the corporation following revelation that Conn faces court action in Jonesboro, Ark., on criminal mischief charges, stemming from allegations he had knowledge of other persons' acts in connection with arson of an aircraft in Jonesboro.

The Commission reportedly conducted its own investigation of the allegations against Conn and found some justification in Conn's contention the charges against him in Arkansas are politically motivated.

"We were well satisfied with the explanation of the circumstances which showed Conn was involved with an airport which did nothing, developed it into an airport that did something, and then got involved in a political upheaval because somebody wants to take it over," Webb explained.

Conn will serve as operator of Stennis Field for TransAm.

Young Pedigo, who was seeking work in the Hancock County oil fields, was a passenger in a car driven by his brother, Stephen Pedigo, 22, of the same address.

Officers said the driver, a Hancock oil field worker, was headed south on Nicholson, apparently at a high rate of speed, when he failed to negotiate a left turn onto Beach Boulevard.

The vehicle, heavily damaged in the accident, overturned on the passenger side, according to Investigating Officer Sonny Lindley.

The younger Pedigo underwent surgery which included removal of his spleen and one kidney following the accident, the police reported.

Tartavouille said the older Pedigo, driver of the fatal vehicle, may face manslaughter charges in connection with his brother's death.

The police said Pedigo already has been charged with driving under the influence, reckless driving and possession of marijuana.

He is free on bond, according to police.

Waveland Building Inspector Bill Caudel was the city's first traffic fatality earlier this year when his car veered off Waveland Avenue and struck a utility pole.

Also this weekend, the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol is continuing a beefed-up surveillance of Hancock County highways, according to Inspector George Saxon, chief of Patrol District Eight.

Traffic enforcement in District Eight which includes Hancock County, is being complimented this weekend by use of a helicopter for aerial patrol of the highways, Saxon warned.

Some 17 patrol cars are also on the roads in an effort to reduce traffic statistics over the holiday, Saxon added.

The U.S. Postal Service reported post offices throughout this area will operate on a holiday schedule Tuesday in observance of Independence Day.

No residential, business or rural mail delivery will be provided, a postal service spokesman said.

Regular tours of the NASA National Space Technology Laboratories will not be held on Monday, July 3 or Tuesday, July 4, according to officials there.

The tour cancellation is in conjunction with a NSTL Energy Panel decision to curtail work during the Fourth of July holiday in an effort to conserve energy.

Tours will resume on a regular basis July 5.

St. Rose Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis is continuing a weekend fair today with dinner served in the school cafeteria from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

An afternoon softball game will be staged around 2 p.m., as well as other afternoon events, to be followed by regular fair activities beginning at 6 p.m., according to Mrs. Jerri Lane.

Today's fair activities will include music, games, prizes and booths. Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church's first annual Fourth of July International Food and Fun Fair will continue today through Tuesday.

The dinner schedule for tonight offers a Mexican Fiesta, an Emerald Isle Feast is Monday's dish, and an All-American Cookout is planned for the Fourth of July.

schedules indicate there will be no pickups made between Friday and Wednesday in the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian.

In Waveland, garbage will be collected tomorrow, and Tuesday's garbage routes will be served Wednesday.

No trash will be picked up in Waveland next week, according to Barbara Rappold, city clerk.

In Bay St. Louis, tomorrow's garbage will be collected Wednesday, Tuesday's pickups will be made Thursday, and Friday's schedule is unchanged.

In Pass Christian, garbage in the entire city will be collected Wednesday, according to Mayor Zach Anthony's office.

Hancock County Sanitation Officer Louis Fernandez gave a few tips on how to keep garbage over the long weekend.

"Wrap it up well and preferably put it in a plastic bag," he said. "Then put it in a well covered garbage can, and keep it away from the house."

"Those with a great excess of garbage should load it up and haul it to the land fill," he added.

"Please don't throw any trash in the ditches or along the side," Fernandez urged.

"Pick up the bottles and cans on the beach," he added, "so the tourists don't get the wrong impression."

Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol is making an "all out effort" to maintain highway safety, according to Inspector George Saxon, chief of the Patrol's Eighth District.

The Eighth District, which is headquartered in Gulfport and encompasses Hancock County, will utilize a helicopter in its long holiday weekend road surveillance.

Hospital's tel-med service gets coast-wide response

Residents of Hancock County have responded in large numbers to the operation of the tel-med tape library, sponsored by and newly installed at Biloxi's Gulf Coast Community Hospital as a free public health information service.

Officially open since June 5, the telephone lines began ringing as soon as the announcement was made. They haven't stopped ringing since, the hospital reported.

The first week tel-med operators recorded 854 calls on Monday, 887 Tuesday, 799 Wednesday, 725 Thursday, 690 Friday and 350 on Saturday for a total of 4305 following 5½ days of service.

VO-TECH HONORS - Alfred Henry Carver, son of Mrs. Allie Carver and the late Sylvan Carver Jr. of Bay St. Louis attended the State Vica Conference at Hinds Jr. College in Jackson where he received a silver medal in electrical trades and was elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Jr. Colleges. He was outstanding electricity student at Bay Senior High in 1977. He is a member of First Baptist Church, Bay St. Louis, and a student at Pearl River Junior College, Poplarville.

The operators averaged 65 tapes per hour for the five lines available. Maximum would be 70 - 72 per hour depending on the length of the tape.

Curiosity prompted many telephone requests; however, this type of call declined toward the end of the week and according to the records the calls were legitimate health information requests.

Controversial subjects such as marijuana, drug abuse, masturbation, male and female sexual response, alcoholism and birth control have drawn the most calls.

Children who may be scheduled for tonsillectomies have called tel-med tape 400 over and over, which is called "Tommy Gets His Tonsils Out."

This is a tape for youngsters designed to eliminate fear and enlighten a prospective patient.

All but 15 tapes from the 200 available in the library have been requested at least once. It is interesting to note that 55 percent of the calls have been from women, 35 percent men, 15 percent teenagers and 5 percent children.

Surprising to everyone is the fact that more requests have not been received on cancer subjects.

There are 23 various tapes available concerning cancer, and the one most frequently asked for is "Breast Cancer."

No one has asked for "Cancer—the Curable Disease."

In recent months the subject of the dying patient and the right to die has received local and national news coverage.

Various hospital representatives have provided their viewpoints and information about the handling of this type patient.

One Tel-Med tape entitled "Emotional Experience of the Dying" has received several calls. It is very informative about a patient's normal reactions and various stages he goes through once he knows that he is terminal. It is also helpful to concerned friends and relatives of the terminal patient.

Many callers merely request a subject if the number of the tape is unknown and the tel-med operator will offer a suggestion.

Since tel-med hit the Coast, requests have come in from many civic and community organizations requesting either brochures or a hospital representative to make a presentation to their group, and some organizations are interested in the addition of other tapes concerning mental health and mental retardation. "Parent Talk" transcripts are being considered. In addition, Patty Anderson, Marketing Coordinator, and Neva Frith, Community Relations Director, are in the process of developing a Tel-Med slide presentation which is suitable for this locale and will be available in the near future.

Residents will soon be able to take advantage of a hotline which will be installed in a prime location at the Edgewater Mall. Other locations are being considered that will allow telephone coverage on the Coast from the Louisiana to the Alabama line.

Callers to tel-med are reminded that these health tapes are not to take the place of their physician, be used in the event of an emergency, or to find out what their illness is.

They are to help them stay healthy, recognize early signs of illness and help adjust to a serious illness.

Tel-med operators are members of the Sunshine Guild, the Gulf Coast Community Hospital auxiliary. Brochures are available at the information desk and groups may request a number of them for distribution from the marketing coordinator.

CASTING OFF—Atislee Phillips, captain of U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Division Three from Biloxi prepares to cast off from the Diamondhead Marina. His boat was one of twelve to rendezvous at the Bay St. Louis bridge for a water parade sponsored by Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 33.

The boats were involved in an all-day series of events sponsored by the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 33, and culminating at a dinner-dance at Diamondhead.

WALKING THROUGH THE FIRE
In a single year, a 32-year-old Portland, Ore. mother named Laurel Lee faced cancer, death, birth, poverty, abandonment and divorce — and never faltered.

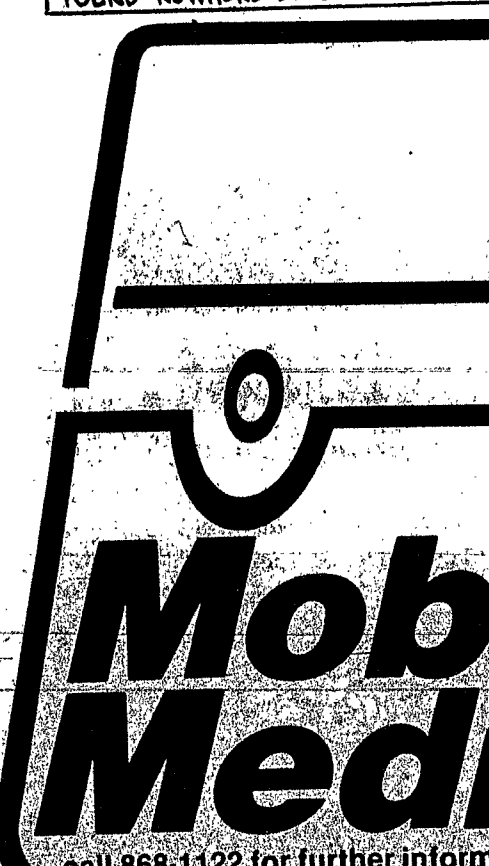

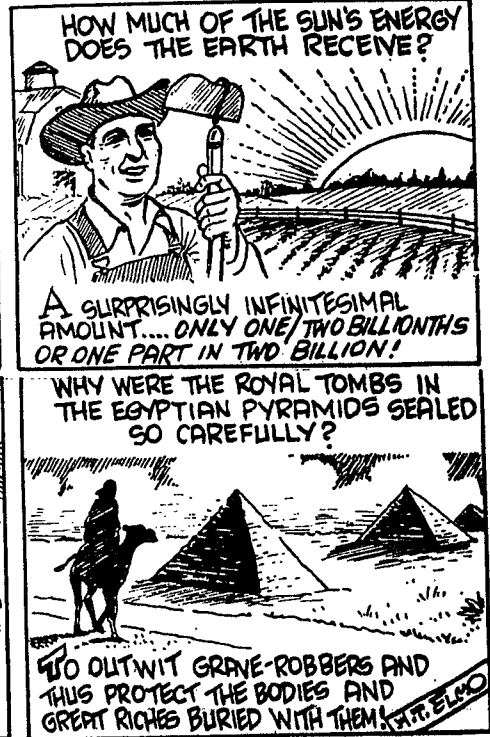

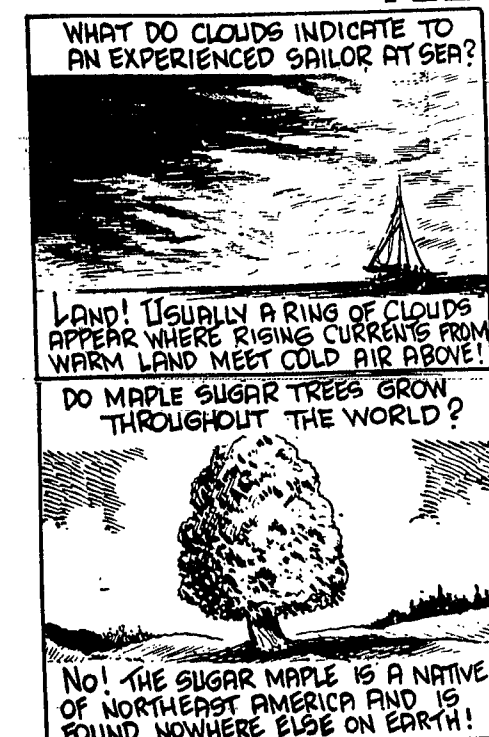

Pregnant with her third child, Laurel discovered she had Hodgkins disease, yet refused to have an abortion to permit immediate radiation treatments.

almost nine months. A born-again Christian, Laurel Lee was able to triumph over Hodgkins disease and maintain her high spirits, warmth and humor. Despite the tragic episodes Laurel tells in WALKING THROUGH THE FIRE, the author fills the book with many moments of humor and her own down-to-earth philosophies, poems, and sayings.

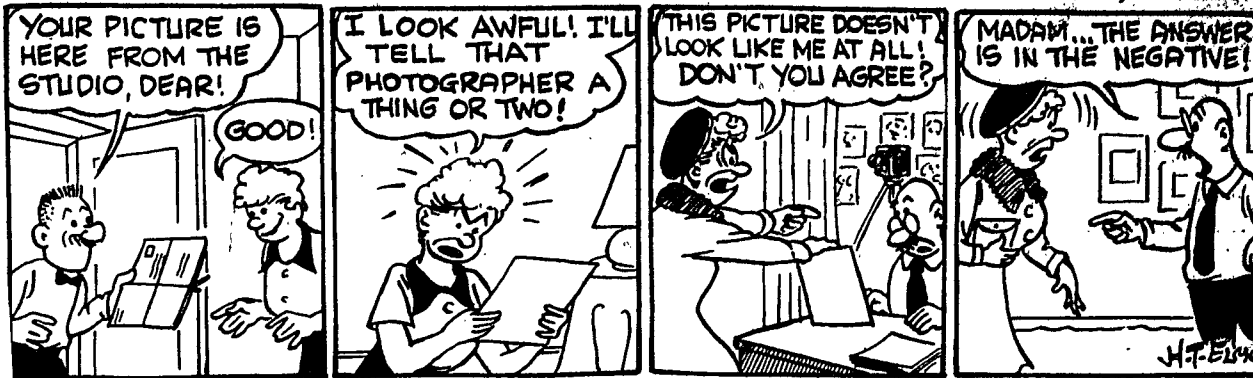

Confronting death in the midst of life, she kept a journal of her experiences and thoughts as a gift for the doctors who looked after her and became her friends. That journal is entitled WALKING THROUGH THE FIRE and was published as a Bantam paperback yesterday, July 1. Illustrated throughout with the author's own original pen-and-ink drawings, WALKING THROUGH THE FIRE chronicles Laurel Lee's encounters with various doctors, nurses and fellow patients. The book describes the effects of her illness on her children and her husband, and her inner thoughts and feelings while in and out of the hospital during a period of

Ole Pastor Says

HE WOULD BE FORGIVEN, let him forgive! And in forgiving, let him earnestly strive to forget. For God our Heavenly Father knows wherein each of us have sinned. He knows each thought that winged its way across our mind. He is familiar with each wrong we pondered in our heart. He knows each time our willful ways have led our footsteps from the blood-stained path our Saviour marked for us. And yet, our Father's mercy never ceases! His love for us remains unchanged! Our Father's promise of eternal life in Jesus Christ includes each of us. How wonderful! If God can forgive the diverse transgressions marked against our name; if He can listen time and again to our petitions asking for forgiveness; if He can comfort us when solemn repentance tears our souls in twain, then who are we to look upon our brother's errands with hardened gaze and still a hardened heart?

"For, if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you; but if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses" (Matt. 6:14-15).

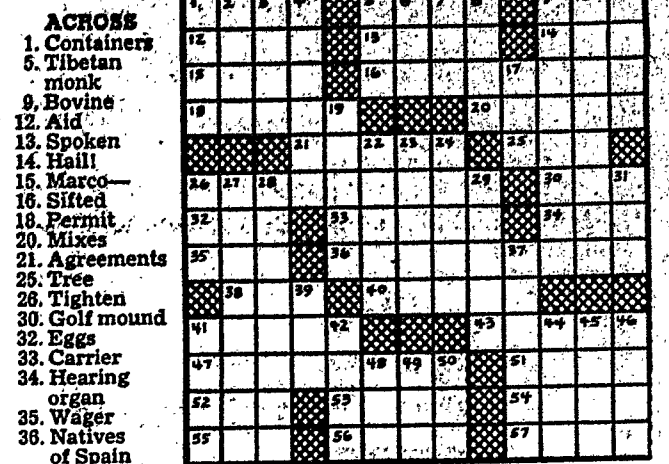

If Christ our Saviour and Lord, while hanging on Calvary's rugged cross as a ransom for our sins, could look with such pity upon those who nailed Him there, and say, "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do," then who are we to turn a deaf ear to our brother's pleadings? Who are we to look disdainfully upon another while judging his faults, when locked within the secret chambers of our own hearts, are hidden sins of even blacker hue?

If we would ask our Father's forgiveness of our sins, the countless times we have wronged another; if through confession and repentance we would ask another chance to prove a faithful child of God, then we, in turn, must willingly forgive, and furthermore, in turn, we must willingly strive to forget. Jesus said, "Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee; leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift." (Matt. 5:23-24) — L. S. Walker, D.D.

County Agent's Notes

by John Smith

By JOHN W. SMITH
County Agent,
Hancock County

FERTILIZE PASTURES

Many Mississippi pastures haven't been fertilized in two or more years. With reduced stocking rates, producers have been able to reduce pasture fertilization.

However, beef cow numbers are expected to increase because of high cattle prices, and more forage will be needed to feed the larger herds. Forage is produced with fertilizer, and now is the time to start.

You should follow soil test recommendations if possible. Without a soil test, use a mixed fertilizer. Following a good pasture fertilization program will help boost profits in your cattle operation.

CONTROL EROSION

Many Mississippi farmers discovered firsthand the devastating effects erosion can have on unprotected farmland during the heavy rains last month. Conserving soil and maintaining clean water is important to every farmer.

You can save these resources by plowing on the contour, sodding waterways, turnrows and adjustment strips, avoiding unnecessary tillage, and leaving highly erodible soils in pastures or trees. Following these practices will help protect soil and water for ourselves and future generations.

GARDENING

Use of mulches can take a lot of the work out of home gardening and help you produce a better crop of vegetables. You can keep long season crops such as tomatoes free of weeds by using a heavy mulch of pine straw, seed-free hay or similar materials. Mulch also reduces water loss and requirements and helps keep fruit off the ground.

CONTROL SOYBEAN WEEDS

For many soybean producers, successful weed control depends largely on the first postemergence herbicide application. Large seeded weeds will begin to emerge during the first few weeks of the growing season.

To prevent yield loss, you must control these weeds within four weeks after soybeans emerge.

ASCS Hancock-Pearl River

CERTIFY CROPS

All Pearl River and Hancock County farmers are asked to certify their 1978 planted acreage, set-aside, diversion and other program acreages with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office, Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director said.

"Certification is the procedure by which farmers report their 1978 program acreages as accurately as possible to insure their eligibility for receiving the benefits of price support and disaster, deficiency, diversion, or grazing and haying payments," Mr. Gennin said. "In Pearl River and Hancock Counties, the final certification date for program crops (corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, rice and peanuts) is August 1.

Mr. Gennin added that growers not participating in the set-aside programs should report their acreages to insure the opportunity to fully participate in future programs.

After certification the ASCS county office will select farms at random for a visit and acreage measurement.

Farmers who grow marketing quota crops (peanuts, tobacco, and extra long staple cotton) should continue to report their acreages as in past years.

These crops will not be affected by set-aside or other program requirements.

NEW

INSURANCE PLAN
Plans for a consolidated, all-risk farm insurance program were announced recently by the secretary of agriculture. ASCS will help market the new insurance program.

"Under the program, each producer could choose from three levels of insurance coverage - 50, 70, and 90 percent of his normal crop production," Gennin said.

The farmer would pay about half the actual cost of insurance for the minimum 50 percent protection.

If he chooses 70 percent protection, he would pay for most of the cost of the additional 20 percent of protection, and would pay all the cost for the final 20 percent of protection at the 90-percent level.

These three levels might vary for different crops, Mr. Gennin said.

"By using federal funds mainly to share premium costs for the first level of protection, with producers paying most of the premiums for higher levels of protection, a level of protection covering cost of production would be affordable to most producers," he said.

Funded through USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation, the proposed program provides better protection to farmers than present disaster programs, at no additional cost to the government.

"By utilizing the existing ASCS delivery system to sell the insurance, along with private insurance agents, we will be able to provide the type of service most familiar to farmers," Mr. Gennin said.

The Farm Production Protection Act would consolidate four present disaster assistance programs into one, to insure crops against natural disasters and some other uncontrollable risks.

The 1977 farm bill provides protection against economic disaster through loan and target price provisions.

"The new insurance program complements that action by providing adequate protection for the farmer who has a bad crop or no crop at all," the ASCS official said.

The first crop that could be covered would be 1980 winter crops planted in the fall of 1979, if the plan receives speedy congressional consideration.

Gennin said the insurance plan is part of a comprehensive food and agriculture policy.

Norine Barnes completes USM teaching update

Norine Barnes of the Cooperative Extension Service, Bay St. Louis, recently attended a workshop on parenting education conducted by the University of Southern Mississippi on its main campus.

Under the direction of Dr. Altra Hamman, of the School of Home Economics, students received knowledge of current information concerning parenthood and innovative ideas for teaching.

Barnes earned three semester hours of graduate credit for attending the workshop. Workshops are offered throughout the year by USM on the Hattiesburg and regional campuses.

FOOD for THOUGHT

An Agricultural Concern Of Interest To Everyone

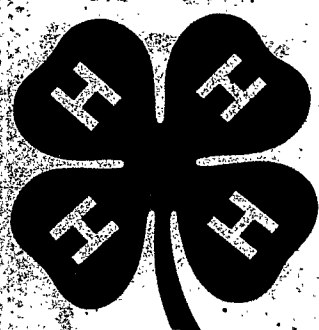

The value of agricultural imports coming into the U.S. has been increasing at a faster rate than the shipment of farm exports out of the country.

In 1977, exports of U.S. farm products were up about five percent in value from 1976.

But imports of agricultural products into the U.S. showed a hike of 27 percent over 1976.

Expanded foreign markets as an outlet for the efficient production of U.S. farmers is needed not only to help temper domestic food costs, but also to improve the country's trade balances.

Presented by this publication and Sperry New Holland to promote a better understanding of the modern farm to family food supply system.

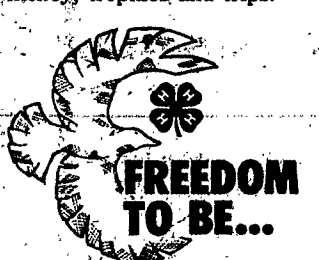

HORSE SHOWS

The Hancock County 4-H Horse Show was held June 17 at the County Fairgrounds Arena. Approximately 45 members exhibited their animals in a total of 147 events.

High point winners were: Pony - Bubba Bennett; Junior - Lisa Russ; and Senior - Chip Lee. Overall high point horse was Middy Buck shown and ridden by Chip Lee.

Twenty-one of those participating in the County Show will advance to the District Show, which will be held at Waynesboro on July 7 and 8. They will exhibit 30 horses in a total of 111 entries. These exhibitors will be seeking the right to advance to the State Show at Jackson on July 13, 14 and 15.

Judging Team members selected are: Juniors - Lisa Russ, Kassie Haas and Carol Bennett; Seniors - Mike Lee, Chip Lee and Tommy Ladner. These 4-H'ers will compete for money, trophies, and trips.

FREEDOM TO BE...

4-H RECORDS DUE

4-H'ers are reminded that records are due in the County Extension Office on July 1. This includes adult leaders, club members, secretaries record book, community club and community pride records. FAIR BOOKS AVAILABLE

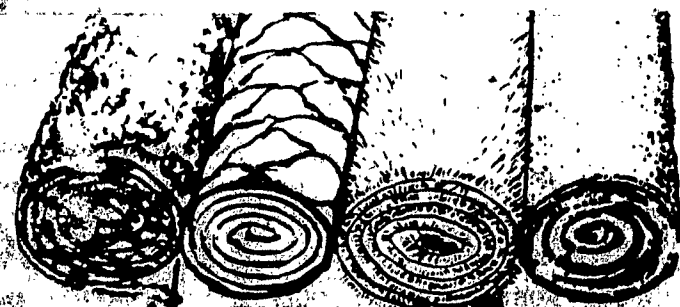

4-H members are reminded the 1978 Fair Books are now available. Come by the Extension Office on Necaise Avenue, Bay St. Louis, and pick up your copy.

CHICKENS & EGGS

Mississippi's 8,883,000 layers produced 147 million eggs in May 1978, according to the Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

This is six million below the 153 million produced in May 1977. Broiler-type chicks hatched in Mississippi during May totaled 24,496,000 - up five percent from the May 1977 hatch. The hatch of egg-type chicks was 1,421,000.

There were 20,815,000 young chickens slaughtered under Federal inspection during April 1978 in Mississippi. This is three percent more than the 20,218,000 inspected during April 1977. Post Mortem condemnations were 1.34 percent, as compared to 1.45 in April 1977.
